

Jr. Musketeers Join Ice League

After two years in the making, this is the inaugural season for the new Iowa High School Hockey Association of which Sioux City is a member.

However, since no city school offers hockey as a sport, the Sioux City Jr. Musketeers team is composed of players from all areas of metropolitan Sioux City and is supported by the Siouxland Youth Hockey Association.

Sioux City Metro will be a member of Division I in the new league. Waterloo Public, Waterloo Columbus and the Des Moines schools of Dowling, Valley, Hoover-Roosevelt and Urbandale complete Division I. Division II teams are Ames, Ankeny, Des Moines Lincoln, Mason City and Webster City.

The Jr. Musketeers will take to the ice for their first home game Sunday, Nov. 28, against Columbus. The 4 p.m. game will be played at the Municipal Auditorium.

Tickets for all IHSHA league games will be available at the door for either individual or family prices.

The executive board of directors for the IHSHA is headed by commissioner Alan Murdock, Iowa State University hockey coach from Ames; Robert Hartman of Sioux City, Phil Stephan of Mason City, Dave Tyler of Waterloo and Brian McPartland of Des Moines.
